

Our global network

DW is driving the regionalization of its reporting and has expanded its international capacity in recent years to cover events directly from the target regions. By working on the ground and with our regional partners, we ensure that our content meets the interests and demands of our audience.

DW content is carried by around 5,000 international distribution partners. In 2022, DW reached 291 million weekly user contacts worldwide, despite being censored in several countries. DW's strategy of shifting output towards digital, especially in countries where press freedom is restricted, has been critical to the success of its formats in Russia, Turkey and Iran.

